

Åsgård – The Tops

Characteristics of Åsgård students:

- We are active, we do our best to learn - we set ourselves goals.
- We find it exciting and fun to learn.
- We listen to the adults and follow the school rules.
- We feel safe and enjoy our time at school.
- An Åsgård student is a good friend.

Characteristics of Åsgård staff members:

- We are well qualified and knowledgeable adults.
- We teach in different ways, adapted to the individual student. We inspire the children.
- We are clear and reliable leaders who have a common attitude to rules and boundaries.
- We treat and respect each and every student as individuals; we care for them and give them self-confidence.
- We treat parents with openness and respect.
- We are professional partners who share our knowledge, we challenge and support each other.
- We are cheerful and really enjoy our work.

Characteristics of Åsgård parents:

- We convey positive attitudes towards learning, and take an active interest in our children's schoolwork.
- We are openly supportive of the school and work in partnership with the staff.
- We contact the school straight away if things need sorting out.
- We take the school's rules and advice seriously.
- We are supportive of, and contribute to, a safe and inclusive school environment.
- We take an active interest in the form's social plan and introduce ourselves to other parents and form students.

Characteristics of Åsgård management:

- We develop and manage Åsgård so it can continue to be an especially good school.
- We enable a good learning and working environment within the school.
- We accept children, parents, employees and other partners in a friendly and professional manner.
- We take part in daily school activities and really get to know the students.
- We are clear, competent and motivational managers.
- We are committed to personal development, setting the standard for increased competency levels.
- We help people grow, articulate it, share it, and use it powerfully in our organisation.
- We are receptive and open to new ideas and initiatives.